Success Stories

Yasmeen, a Litigation Success Story

Falling privy to bad company, Yasmeen's husband got involved in mugging habits and shot dead two victims. He went into hiding while his accomplices were caught by the police. Upon no trace of him, the police arrested Yasmeen and charged her with dacoity and double murder. Her finances did not allow her to hire a private lawyer which meant she required legal aid. She was represented by Noor-ul-Sabah, a lawyer at CWP-LAO. Since the evidence incriminating Yasmeen was not sufficient, she was acquitted of all charges after 5 years of case proceedings.

Yawar Zaman, a released Prison Paralegal

Yawar Zaman, one of the released paralegals, extended his legal knowledge at a community paralegal session in Agra Taj Lyari Town, Karachi conducted in collaboration between CWP-LAO and its sister organization Legal Aid Society.

Under the supervision of senior lawyers, he conducted the session on legal awareness and the legal property rights of women. The session on property rights of women was the most popular among the audience.

Lusaulwa Augustino, a successful repatriation

Lusaulwa Augustino, a Tanzanian prisoner, remained in the Central Prison, Karachi, for 9 additional months even after completing his sentence because he was unable to bear the travel costs back to Tanzania. CWP-LAO coordinated with a well-known travel agency, JAS travels, to sponsor 50% of his travel costs. With this gracious support of JAS Travel Group, the Committee was able to repatriate Lusaulwa Augustino, and send him back home.

Hansi Korani, a Litigation Success Story

Implicated in a false theft case, Hansi Korani, aged 26 years old, spent one and a half months in central prison. Coming from a minority background and belonging to a family dependent on daily wage labor, his finances disallowed him to hire a private lawyer to advocate for his case. The case stage was analyzed and then a vakalatnaama was filed by a lawyer from CWP-

LAO, Mr. Abid Jatoi. During the case trial, it was revealed that Hansi was not involved in the crime and hence the court passed his acquittal orders and the case got resolved in 46 days.

Humera, a Litigation Success Story

Humera, a 35 year old woman, was implicated along with her 50 year old mother in the case of her husband's murder that was registered by Humera's brother-in-law. At the time, Humera also had to bring along her 9 month old baby to the prison.

Mr. Toseef Ahmed Chandio, a CWP-LAO lawyer filed a vakaltanaama in the court on behalf of the mother-daughter duo. All 8 case witnesses and other relevant evidence were examined by the court. But none was sufficient enough to prove them guilty. The court ruled in their favour and within 7 months of the court proceedings, they were released from the pison.

Uzair Ahmed, a juvenile justice story

Uzair Ahmed, a 17 year old young boy hailing from Lasbella and a daily wage laborer supporting his parents and 3 siblings, was arrested by PS Soldier Bazar Police on the charges of theft. With no means to contact his relatives for help, his vakalatnaama was filed with the court by CWP-LAO's lawyer, Ms. Mehwosh Naz. Uzair informed her how he was planning to plead guilty just so he could receive some relief in his conviction. However, Ms. Mehwish guided him through the process at length and the case was taken up in court officially.

The court found contradictions in the statements of the case witnesses and after the examination of the evidence, Uzair got acquitted of his false case.
